

Lecture 23 (Asynchronous)

This lecture focused on professional development and the leadership mindset needed in projects. I learned that project managers should be adaptable and committed to continuous learning. My main takeaway was improving communication and decision-making over time.