

Lecture 10 (Synchronous)

I learned that planning is the foundation of the whole system life cycle. The PIECES framework helped me understand how to justify a project using clear problems and opportunities. This made me see that a project can fail early if the planning and justification are weak.